This new program is tied to MLBx, the condensed baseball tour that the league introduced in 2026. It replaces the Home Run Derby X theme that players had become familiar with in past years. The tour featured several Major League legends, and a few of them have now made their way into MLB The Show 26 as high-value rewards.

Among the featured legends are former cover athlete Adrian Gonzalez, Shane Victorino, and Julio Franco. The MLBx Program follows a linear reward structure. Here is what players can expect at each milestone:

10 Points: 99 OVR MLBx Adrian Gonzalez & 1,000 XP

20 Points: Ballin' is a Habit pack & 1,000 XP

30 Points: 99 OVR MLBx Ryan Howard & 1,000 XP

50 Points: Deluxe pack & 1,000 XP

60 Points: 99 OVR MLBx Julio Franco & 1,000 XP

The program offers four 99 OVR cards in total. Victorino becomes available at the 40-point mark, while Franco is the final reward at 60 points. Both are excellent additions to any Diamond Dynasty lineup.

How to Earn Points in the MLBx Program

There are two main ways to earn points: Moments and Missions. Together, they offer 60 points, which is exactly enough to complete the program.

Moments (30 Points)
The program includes six Moments, each worth 5 points. All of them are played on Veteran difficulty. None of the Moments can be skipped, so players will need to complete every single one to earn the full 30 points.

Missions (30 Points)
The Missions provide another 30 points and can be completed passively while playing Diamond Dynasty. Here is the full breakdown:

Tally 1,200 PXP with any hitters in any game mode (5 pts.)

Tally four home runs with any players (5 pts.)

Tally six hits with any infielders (C, 1B, 2B, 3B, SS) (5 pts.)

Tally 10 hits with any players (5 pts.)

Tally 16 total bases with any outfielders (LF, CF, RF) (5 pts.)

Tally 23 total bases with any players (5 pts.)

None of these Missions are especially challenging. Most of them will complete naturally as you play regular games in Diamond Dynasty. The key is to keep playing and let the stats build up over time.

Tips for Finishing the Program Faster

If your goal is to reach 60 points as efficiently as possible, start with the six Moments. Completing all of them gets you halfway to Julio Franco. After that, the Missions will fill in the remaining points as you continue playing. Using infielders and outfielders that match the specific requirements can help you make progress on multiple Missions at once.
