Sometimes skincare can be pretty boring but Rainbow Pimple Patches are perfect to brighten up your skincare routine. They can still help cover individual spots. This creates an interesting way to make your skincare simple but Funique. A skincare brand called Dermple has created unique and colourful pimple patches. What do you think? Do you like the bright and colourfull ones, or do you prefer the more subtle and clear ones? Or maybe even the classic ones? What is most important to you when choosing your pimple patches? The look? Material? Or convenience?
