Any Advice for Planning an Intercity Move From Haridwar?

I’m planning an intercity move from Haridwar and want to make sure I choose a reliable moving service. Since the distance is longer than a local move, I’m particularly concerned about how safely my household items will be packed, transported, and delivered.

I’m comparing different Packers and Movers in Haridwar, but I’m not sure what factors should matter most when making the final choice. I think it’s important to check their experience with intercity moves, customer reviews, packing quality, and whether they provide a clear quotation without unexpected charges later.

I’d also like to know how delivery timelines are normally decided and whether insurance or compensation coverage is available for valuable or fragile belongings. Before booking, I’m planning to ask about loading and unloading procedures, tracking options, payment terms, and what happens if delivery is delayed or an item is damaged.

For those who have moved from Haridwar to another city, what should I be especially careful about? Are there any common red flags when comparing movers, and what questions should I ask before confirming the booking? I’d appreciate advice based on your experience.
